

Dear Madam, dear Sir ,

Charlotte is a child who has many qualities. We think so because she is our daughter, but also because it's what her teachers, our family and the other adults who know her tell us.

On one hand, she is very serious, very studious and can spend hours and evenings finishing her homework. And on the other hand, she has a lot of friends who she likes to have fun with and hang out with; she is sociable and she makes friends easily.

Charlotte is a mature and independent child; she has always liked to chat with adults. We tried to open up his mind through bicycle trips in other countries. Today she is curious and very interested in discovering other cultures, other ways of living and thinking.

Regarding her activities, she regularly rides bicycle, alone or with her family ; she often goes to the swimming pool with her mother to swim or go aquabike. She likes to walk with our dog in the countryside. She has done several years of classical and modern dance.

During the summer holidays, we go on hikes several days in the mountains with bivouacs, bike trips with overnight stays in tents or with locals, and we also go to the seaside to rest and bathe. In winter, we try to go skiing once a year.

Since she was young, Charlotte has been going to summer camp every year; which she particularly enjoys to meet new friends and discover new activities.

At home we have a fairly "strict" education; we like the calm and the respect of the rules of life and schedules. Charlotte is calm, respectful, and likes straightforward things.

We don't have a TV but we like to share time with our family playing board games. Charlotte has her own computer and a cell phone; but she knows how to be reasonable with screens. She reads very often at night before going to bed.

Charlotte and her sister help us with the household chores. They take turns setting and clearing the lunch and dinner table. They take care of the tidying up and cleaning of their bedroom. They do their laundry and iron their clothes. Charlotte likes to help us cook.

She is aware of environmental issues because both of her parents work in the environmental field. She loves animals and we have two cats and one dog. She knows how to be moderate in her purchases; since she was 15, she has had her pocket money and manages all of her personal purchases (clothes, outings, extras).

Charlotte is going to spend a school year at Wilson Hospital School in Mullingar. She will be a boarder student 5 days and she needs a host family for the week ends.

We are looking for a family who can introduce her to Irish culture and family life. A family that will welcome her like a member of her own family.

This family will discover a pleasant, curious and well-behaved child. Charlotte will always be keen and willing to discover your culture, your activities, your region.

We are grateful to you for welcoming her to your family, for sharing your values, your way of life.

Corinne and Francois-Xavier, Charlotte's parents
